Wall of Fame located in the Wayne County Museum

March 2019

History:

The Wall of Fame was begun by WCHA in 2002 when over 150 original applications were received. An impartial committee studied the entries and made selections. On January 26, 2003, a celebration was held at the museum and photographs of the original winners were hung. Many of the living “famous” citizens were present. Family members of almost all those selected were present. Since that time, additional persons have been added to the Wall every two or three years. If you have previously made an application which was not selected, please be sure to submit again.

Some of those previously selected for the Wall of Fame include Seymour Johnson, Andy Griffith, Lee Brown, Adam Scott, Johnny Walker, John Allen Farfour, Clarence Dillard, Clifton Britton, and Johnny Grant.

The second round of nominations was in 2012.

In 2015, 15 additional people were added bringing the total to 88 persons.

Criteria:

1. The nominee made a lasting contribution to the community beyond the reasonable expectations of their professional career.
2. The nominee gained prominence or fame at the state, national, or international level. (i.e., elected Governor, received Congressional Medal of Honor, etc.)
3. The nominee achieved a goal not attained before by someone in the community. (ex. Mildred Gaylor was the first woman to be elected to the City Council, Glenwood Burden was the first African American to attend Goldsboro High School)
